Faculty Survey for Professional Development

The purpose of this survey is to address the educational needs of ADN Faculty as we develop a common standard (curriculum). It is important that each school and each individual faculty member be represented. This will ensure that we can succeed in implementing a curriculum that is effective and functional.

Please take a few minutes to complete the four questions below. Return the completed survey to your school's representative for return by October 31st. Thank you in advance for completing this survey.

The NCBON rule changes and evolution of nursing will demand an understanding of the following concepts and abilities.

C. Please suggest any speaker that would effectively address any of the listed competencies in section B. (name and contact information)

-? Nurse Researcher.

-Speakers don't help. I've been to two sessions on developing criteria for the new standards and even with what I thought was great information and time well spent, the BON unceremoniously rejected everything I sent based on information received in the two sessions. Another speaker will do very little unless we find one that can tell us how to play the Education Consultant game.

-Bonnie Angel, Ed.D, RN University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill School of Nursing

-Sharon Tanner, NOADN president, ... maybe someone who has served on the IOM committee (one of the nursing faculty), and why not the NCBON consultants, as they should know what and how they want us to implement the content...maybe they would be willing to present for us on developing a curriculum that has these concepts. Also Donna Ignavaticus would probably be a good speaker on evidence base, and possibly someone from some of the testing agencies (ATI, etc.) ...they also have experts who are involved in quality improvement, maybe we could learn from them.
